

Winter Living Spring 2021 Seminar

Course Description

Join your BioHouse peers and instructors in an outdoors-oriented exploration of the myriad ways plants, animals, and humans adjust to winter living. What you learn may directly apply to your academic and career plans in biology or your lifetime recreation interests. Class meets in-person, usually in an outdoor setting on or near campus. Break your routine and expand your interests and activity. Sign up quickly because there is a capacity limit.

Course Information

Course Name: Integrated Science 375; Section 3; Class Number 36196

Day & Time: biweekly on Saturdays, 1:00-3:00 PM

Location: Primarily outdoors. Sometimes in the Dejope classroom for indoor instruction.

Instructors: Dr. Bill Karasov and Dr. Jon Pauli