Course Description
Join your BioHouse peers and faculty director, Jon Pauli, in an outdoors-oriented exploration of the myriad ways plants, animals, and humans adjust to winter living. What you learn may directly apply to your academic and career plans in biology or your lifetime recreation interests. Class meets in-person, usually in an outdoor setting on or near campus. Break your routine and expand your interests and activity.

Course Information
Course Name: Integrated Science 375; Section 3; Class Number 75618
Day & Time: Saturdays, 1:00-3:00 PM
Location: Primarily outdoors. Sometimes in the Leopold classroom for indoor instruction.
Instructor: Dr. Jon Pauli